

A PUBLIC LECTURE SPONSORED BY THE ART HISTORY PROGRAM

Lynn Roller

Shades of Greekness: Continuity and Change in Roman Asia Minor

Lynn Roller will explore the ways in which the pre-Greek peoples of Asia Minor adapted Greek art and culture and the degree to which they retained their own non-Greek ethnic identity. This talk grew out of her research project, the Hellenization of Asia Minor, for which Professor Roller received a Loeb Fellowship in the 2007-2008 academic year.

Lynn Roller is a member of the Art History Program at UC Davis. Her current research focuses on the relationship of Greeks to non-Greek peoples in Asia Minor. Recent publications include In Search of God the Mother: the Cult of Anatolian Cybele.

Tuesday, January 27th
4:10 pm in ART 210D